

TAFT TURNS ON THE WATER

Opens Gates of Big Irrigation System

INTO GUNNISON TUNNEL

The Largest Work of Its Kind in the Country Was Completed When President Taft Pressed Button Yesterday.

Montrose, Colo., Sept. 24.—By pressing a silver plate her yesterday afternoon, President Taft opened the flood-gates of the Gunnison tunnel, through which it is expected that $15,000,000 worth of wealth will flow into the Uncompahgre valley of Colorado.

In reality only the waters of the Gunnison river pass through the tunnel gates, but water out of these alkali lands is money. Practically the entire flow of the Gunnison river eventually will be carried in the tunnel for six miles through a granite mountain where it rears its head two hundred feet above the tunnel's door. It was one of the largest irrigation projects undertaken by the federal government, and the inhabitants of this valley were wild with joy when they saw the dream of years realized.

President Taft, before he reached here, had spoken at Glenwood Springs, Grand Junction, and one or two smaller Colorado cities. Last night he attended a banquet.

The completion of the Gunnison project means the reclamation of nearly 150,000 fertile acres, making their cultivation certain and successful. Homes for at least 50,000 people will be created. The Uncompahgre valley, in the heart of the main ridge of the Rockies, where now thousands of acres of mesa lie bare and brown, will within a few years be covered with orchards and truck farms. The great tunnel, which is the main feature of the project, will not only assist in the work of irrigation, but will be used also to generate electric power sufficient to light every town and every farmhouse in the valley and to provide power for all kinds of commercial and industrial purposes. Already there are three flourishing towns, Montrose, Delta and Olathe, located in the valley.

The main tunnel is six miles long and extends through a mountain of almost solid rock. Through this great tube the waters from the Gunnison river, which flows through a granite canyon, the walls of which are 2,500 feet high in many places, are carried into the valley. The tunnel is the largest underground waterway in the world. Its capacity is 1,200 cubic feet of water a second. It is cement lined throughout and it cost more than $2,500,000. With the main and distributing canals, the total cost of the project amounted to over $5,000,000. The main canal is 30 feet wide at the bottom, 83 feet wide at the top and the average depth of water is ten feet. Four and a half years were necessary to complete the great engineering work.

The preliminary work on the undertaking was difficult and spectacular, for the Gunnison river flows at the bottom of the great canyon with almost perpendicular walls and the surveys for the location of the tunnel heading required both heroism and engineering skill. Actual work on the tunnel was provided by the construction of a road down the canyon walls over which supplies and heavy machinery could be carried. For four years crews of men were employed in boring into the granite mountain from both ends of the tunnel. On July 6 last the two gangs met at a point 10,812 feet from the intake on the Gunnison river. In the progress of their work they had encountered all sorts of discouragements, gas, water, hot and cold water, running sand and treacherous material which required careful timbering in order to protect the workmen.

Base Ball Notes.

The Chicago Cubs and White Sox will commence their post season series Oct. 7. It is expected that big crowds will turn out to see these games.

The Tigers will have 10 hard games after leaving Washington, four each with New York and Boston and two with Chicago.

James McAleer of the St. Louis American ball team will manage the team for the Capital city next season. It is understood that he will receive a large block of stock, in addition to a good salary, to try to bring the pennant to Washington next season.

Cy Young had a minor operation performed on his leg Wednesday, which will keep him out of the game for about a week. The operation was made necessary by a ball striking him in the leg and causing a swelling.

By Cobb says that he would sacrifice his share of the world's series money if he could have averted the spiking of Jack Barry of the Athletics.

Mitchell, Cleveland's latest purchase, pitched a very good game against the Red Sox Wednesday. He allowed seven hits.

Claude Roseman, the former Detroit first baseman, who was traded to St. Louis, has given up the game for good. He says he will take up school teaching once more at his home in Philmont, N. Y.

ALMOST READY. New York Practically Fully Prepared for Great Celebration.

New York, Sept. 24.—With a column of warships of several nations moving a mile long in the Hudson river and the British and German squadrons arriving, the street and buildings blossoming with bunting and thousands of visitors beginning to arrive, New York is beginning to awake to the fact that the opening of the great Hudson-Fulton celebration is near.

Several surprises in the nature of aviation events which are not on the program of the Hudson-Fulton celebration are promised by the officials of the celebration. Glenn H. Curtiss left for Hammondsport yesterday, where he will be awarded a great homecoming by his fellow townsmen. He will try out the new machine which he is to use in his flight from Governor's island, and will return Monday morning. He hopes to begin his flight over the lower bay on Tuesday.

Wilbur Wright expects to get up in the air by Saturday for a preliminary flight. He will not use a starting power in making his flight here. The machine will be run on a motor and by facing the wind Mr. Wright says he does not need the initial impulse of a starting weight.

"We never use the starting apparatus when we make flights on the seashore," said Mr. Wright. The Holland society yesterday received the following acknowledgment of the greetings sent to Queen Wilhelmina of Holland at the organization's dinner Wednesday night: "Holland, the Netherlands."

"Vanduser, president Holland society, New York."

"The queen desires me to convey her sincere thanks to Holland society of New York for the loyal message for her home and nation."

"Private secretary to H. P., the queen." The British squadron first came into communication with the Fire Island station yesterday. The Fire Island station got a message from the captain of the battleship Drake, the British flagship, but was unable to learn the vessel's location.

NO ATTACKS UPON JEWS.

Berlin Says That Reports from Russia Are Untrue.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—There have been no attacks upon Jews at Kiev or anywhere else in Russia, so far as the Jewish Emigration society or the German Jewish Relief association know. The first organization concerns itself with the emigration of Jews from Russia, and since the publication of the reported fatal rioting at Kiev, both organizations have communicated with their agents in Kiev and other important places in Russia.

Doctor Kahn, who represents the societies in the absence of the chief director, Dr. P. Nathan, said that this sensational report had its entire foundation in the apprehension among the Jews of the suburbs of Kiev that they might be attacked in consequence of a quarrel between themselves and some local law characters.

Doctor Kahn said that in this instance he was happy to declare that not a Jew had been hurt or a pennyworth of property destroyed. He disavowed completely the suggestion that the reports on this matter telegraphed to the United States had originated with the Jewish societies of Berlin.

OMAHA ACTS TO END STRIKE.

The Mayors of Three Cities to Hold Conference.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 24.—After a night of wild rumors and some display of lawlessness in which a number of cars were wrecked, several men injured, and a large number of arrests made, the street car strike situation shows no material change. Cars are running on practically all lines, but not in the usual numbers. It is understood a conference is to be held between the three mayors, Daniel J. Mahoney, Kautsky of South Omaha, and Mahoney of Council Bluffs, to settle the strike. The Omaha city council is to meet and consider the matter. It is stated that none of the carmen who were injured in Wednesday night's riots is in a critical condition, although several are unable to report for duty.

Eight strike-breakers were injured and John Petrick, a bystander, was shot through the hip as the result of Wednesday night's riot. Eight cars were partially demolished. During the trouble two cars in the northwest part of the city were attacked by a mob and the crews forced to abandon them. The cars were smashed by a crowd of several hundred persons. It had been planned to run the cars until nine o'clock Wednesday night, but the rioting which started early in the evening caused the street railway officials to stop the service at once.

LABOR MEN REFUSE.

Will Not March Behind Militia at Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 24.—Companies of state militia of this city and Mount Vernon, a neighboring county seat, will not march in the feature of the German day festivities here next week, because of a protest of labor unions.

The latter wrote to the committee in charge of arrangements, saying that "the militia was organized to fight union labor and union workmen should not be asked to march behind soldiers." Therefore the militia will be left off the program.

SIX PERSONS MURDERED.

Terrible Tragedy in Hurley, Va.—Bodies Burned With House.

Bluefield, W. Va., Sept. 24.—An entire family of six persons were murdered and the bodies of all but one of the victims were burned with their home at Hurley, Buchanan county, Va., early Wednesday. The motive was evidently robbery, for the owner of the house, an aged woman known as "Auntie Betty" Justis, was generally supposed to keep a large sum of money about the place. Mrs. Justis, her son-in-law, George Meadows, his wife and their three children were the victims. Blood-hounds were rushed to the scene and in a short time they took up the trail of the supposed murderers in a cornfield which adjoined the Justis home. There the footprints of three men were found impressed in the soft soil. A posse of citizens, heavily armed, are following the bloodhounds, bent on killing the murderers if they are captured.

FLYING STONE KILLS MAN

Blast He Set Off Cause of His Own Death

HUNDRED YARDS AWAY

E. L. Blossom, in Charge of Dynamite
Work Near Brattleboro, Dies Immediately After Receiving Fatal
Injuries from Flying Rock.

Brattleboro, Sept. 24.—E. F. Blossom, a foreman in charge of the dynamite work for the firm of Crosby & Parker, contractors and builders, was killed yesterday at 11:30 o'clock as the result of a blast made in an excavation on the West river road, a short distance above Brattleboro.

Blossom prepared to fire a heavy blast in a ditch eight feet deep. He connected the charge with an electric battery placed in a corded about 100 yards away, and after warning the other workmen, he connected the wires and turned the switch. When the explosion took place, a large piece of rock about two feet in diameter was hurled through the air on a direct line for Blossom. Although the men shouted, Blossom was unaware of his danger, as the corn obstructed his outlook, and the boulder struck him in the chest, striking him in the chest directly above the heart. The impact knocked him down and when he was lifted by the other workmen it was seen that he had been seriously injured.

A doctor was summoned, but it was soon found that he was beyond aid, his chest having been crushed in by the stone, causing internal injuries. Blossom was conscious and talked for several minutes with the doctors and men who were about him, but died 25 minutes after the accident. He was 38 years old and made his home in Perkinsville. He had been engaged in dynamiting work for about 25 years and for 14 years had been employed by Crosby & Parker. He was considered an expert in his line, and although he had taken chances himself, he was always considerate of his fellow workmen. He was survived by his wife and three sons. His wife and the youngest son live in Perkinsville, another son is employed in the West, while the third is an engineer employed by the American Bridge company, and is working in Africa. The body will be taken to Perkinsville to-day for burial.

A NEW RECORD.

Dartmouth Has Largest Entering Class in Her History.

Hanover, Sept. 24.—Dartmouth college opened its 141st year today with an entering class numbering nearly 350 students, the largest in the history of the college.

The resignation of former President William J. Tucker having taken effect and the inauguration of President-elect Ernest A. Nichols not occurring until another month the opening of the college found the institution without a president in office, although the duties of president were well cared for by Professor John K. Lord, acting president, who served in that capacity during the last year of President Tucker's administration.

It is estimated that the entire enrollment will number about 1,300. As there are several new dormitories there will be ample room for all.

AUTO ACCIDENT KILLS THREE.

Four Others Are Seriously Hurt in Collision Near Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 24.—Three women were killed and three men and a woman seriously injured when an automobile containing eight persons jumped off a trestle at Fourth and Waller streets, a short distance from the Union station here yesterday. An auto on the air landed on the tide flats, twenty-five feet below, the gasoline tank exploded and flames shot up thirty feet. A fire engine was called and the flames dragged a woman from under the blazing automobile after they had been throwing water on the wreck for several minutes. The driver, Henry Hizer, who had been twice arrested for reckless driving was taken to the city jail. Only he escaped unhurt.

GREENWICH GETS $300,000.

Town Finds That It Is Benefited by the Bruce Will.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 24.—A gift of $300,000, a park and an art museum to the town of Greenwich, which has slept for years in an unrecalled deed, was made public Wednesday. The deed was drawn in the lifetime of the late R. M. Bruce, and its discovery yesterday in unsearched files came as a complete surprise to residents and town officials alike.

GRISWOLD LEAVES $25,000,000.

Any Heir Contesting Will Gets Only $10.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 24.—A clause providing that anyone contesting his will should be cut off with $10 and his portion divided among the other beneficiaries is a notable feature of the will of John N. A. Griswold, who died at his home here last week leaving an estate estimated at about $25,000,000. The will was filed for probate yesterday.

Mr. Griswold's daughters, Mrs. John M. Forbes of New York and Mrs. H. R. O. Cross, wife of Major Cross of the British army, are given $125,000 each. Edward Henshaw, Mr. Griswold's business representative for many years, receives $25,000. A trust fund of $50,000 is set aside for Mrs. Richard C. Derby and her descendants. Miss Anna McConnell, a niece, is given $25,000. The residue is to be conveyed to the New York Life Insurance & Trust Co., as trustees. George S. Frillinghuyser and Frederick Frillinghuyser, nephews of Mr. Griswold, are appointed executors.

Mrs. Derby is a close friend of the Griswold family. The New York Life Insurance & Trust company is to divide the residue of the estate into two equal parts, the income of each to be given to Mrs. Griswold's two daughters respectively. Mr. Griswold was for many years a prominent railway magnate, and since his retirement has made his home in Newport.

SUCCEEDS TREAT.

Lee McClung to Become Treasurer of United States.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Lee McClung, the treasurer of Yale university and once a very famous football player, has been selected treasurer of the United States to succeed Charles H. Treat.

The following announcement is made in connection with the appointment: "Charles H. Treat, on account of business matters, has tendered his resignation to take effect the 15th of October. The secretary of the treasury has asked him to remain until the first of November, at which time his resignation will be accepted."

"The president has selected Lee McClung, the treasurer of Yale university, to fill the vacancy. Mr. McClung's home is in Knoxville, Tenn., his present residence in New Haven being temporary, incidental to the useful work he has been doing for Yale. He was previous to this time connected with the Southern railway and expected before this appointment to return to Tennessee to go into his family's business in Knoxville."

"The treasury department is delighted to be able to secure Mr. McClung's services, as he has been particularly successful in modernizing treasury and accounting methods at Yale university." Mr. McClung is a Republican.

MURDER FOR $1.

Negro Charged with Crime Just Escapes
Lynch.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 24.—Classed by two mobs and face to face with death by lynching more than once, John Davis, a negro, was brought to the jail here yesterday. His crime, as charged by a son of the dead couple, is the murder of Lee Moore and wife, an old negro couple, near Equality last Monday. The motive being robbery and the sum received being $1. Shortly after the crime a mob near the scene of the murder almost came up with Davis, but he escaped to Coosa county.

When caught at Goodwater Wednesday, another mob formed. He secured time by imploring Jim Self, a white man, and while this was being discussed he was slipped out the back door and got across the line into Elmore county, where deputies took him and rushed him here. Self denies knowledge of the crime. Davis says he did not kill the old people, but the son, who just escaped, says he did, as he saw him and knew him well.

GRAFTER CONVICTED.

Inspector McCann of Chicago Found Guilty.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Police Inspector Edward McCann was found guilty of extorting bribes from fallen women and degraded men of the Desplantes street "red light" district by a jury in Judge Albert C. Barnes' court yesterday. This marks the end of the hard-fought trial which State's Attorney Wayman has promised shall be only the stepping stone to further prosecutions in his search for the "man higher up." The penalty is a penitentiary term of one to five years.

"The evidence was clear, complete and uncontradicted," said Mr. Wayman. "It marks the beginning of the end of police bribery and police graft in Chicago and get us much nearer to that much talked of 'man higher up.'"

ADMIRAL CLARK IS UP AGAIN.

He Takes Part in Reunion of Civil War
Regiment at Fremont, Ohio.

Fremont, Ohio, Sept. 24.—Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, U. S. N., who was taken suddenly ill here Wednesday with bowel trouble, was much improved today. Admiral Clark, who is the guest of Col. Webb C. Hayes, U. S. A., and who came here to participate in the annual reunion of the Twenty-third regiment, O. V. I., the regiment of Hayes and McKinley, will take part in the program as arranged. The admiral will make an address during the ceremonies dedicating the gateway to the old French and Indian trail of 1753 and the Harrison military trail in the war of 1812, at Spiegels.

ROOSEVELT IN REPOSE.

His Bust in Senate to Be so Modelled.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The question which has been for some time pending whether the marble bust of Roosevelt to stand in one of the niches about the Senate gallery shall look strenuous, or calm and thoughtful, is likely to be settled in favor of Roosevelt in repose. This is what the former president himself favors. James Earl Frazier, the New York sculptor, some time ago submitted to Superintendent Woods and the library committee two casts, one of Roosevelt in fighting trim and the other in positive mood. It is given out that the decision will probably favor the more peaceful piece of marble rather than the other one.

A GLIMMER FROM BEHIND THE CURTAIN

By SUSAN P. LOWRIE.

Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.

There are many things that are considered superstitious which may be outcroppings of nature's laws. We scientists can trace animal life back to the very cicerulus of the egg, which is an embryo living being, but we cannot tell why two people will frequently think of the same thing at the same moment. In other words, we have never made a beginning in the science of mental telepathy, either between living people or between the living and the dead. This is preliminary to an experience given by one of my most gifted pupils shortly after she had taken a husband.

"Professor," she said, "you remember that I once confided to you that there was a mystery in our family, that when I was a child my nurse was dismissed for the mere mention of it to me, though she had given me no idea of what it was. Well, the evening before my marriage while exploring a garret for some needed article I came upon a trunk, which I opened and found to contain sundry knick-knacks, all evidently very old. One was a daguerreotype of a girl, another a pasteboard box tied with a faded ribbon. I opened the box and found a small piece of wedding cake, dried to a crisp. Girls, you know, sleep with wedding cake under their pillows to influence their dreams. I took the piece I found away with me and that night slept with it under my pillow."

"I dreamed this dream: 'I was walking in one of those old fashioned gardens still common in old New England, and wore so in the southern states, inclosed by a high wall. Through a vista of trees and flowers I could see the rear of a house. Through a door opening on to a porch came a young man and a girl. The man wore a frock coat with brass buttons, a profusion of neckwear and trousers striped beneath his shoes. He carried a cane. The girl's dress was covered with flowers, and her hair, parted in the center of her head, was plastered down over her temples. The two came toward me over a walk bordered with boxwood, and as they drew near I recognized the girl whose daguerreotype I had seen in the trunk in the garret. The man's face looked familiar, but I could not place it."

"They were talking excitedly, but what they said I did not hear. Indeed, I didn't hear their voices; I only knew they were discussing some subject of vital importance to them. Suddenly a wooden door in the garden wall opened, and another man entered. He, too, was young and dressed in the same fashion as the man walking with the girl. On his entrance she gave a cry, and the two young men stood and gazed at each other. There was some confusion in my dream from this point for awhile, and the next feature I remember distinctly was seeing the man who had come out of the house with the girl pull his walking stick in two pieces, separating it just below the handle. The upper part was a long, thin piece of steel. With it he rushed upon the man who had entered last and stabbed him. The steel went through the man's back and he fell on a bed of flowers in a faint."

"I awoke in one of those horrible conditions produced by bad dreams."

Had mine been the consequence of some internal ailment like indigestion I might have quieted down and gone to sleep. But my seeing in the girl the person whose likeness I had found in the trunk convinced me that I had been carried back to some scene enacted in the past. Consequently I puzzled over it till morning and arose on my wedding day, having slept only a few hours. At breakfast father, noticing my appearance, looked at me anxiously and asked me if I were ill. I told him my dream.

"After my return from my honeymoon father told me the family secret. My grandmother, his
